

- ▶ In yesterday's session, investors traded with a cautious mood as they continued to digest previous developments in the U.S. - Iran tensions.
- ▶ In this context, most stock indices in the euro area reverted past risk-off flows and advanced modestly while U.S. indices edged down. In fixed-income markets, yields on advanced economies' sovereign bonds were broadly unchanged.
- ▶ In oil markets, the price of the barrel of Brent temporarily rose above $70 after Iran attacked two U.S. military bases in the region in today's early hours. The movement has partially reverted and Brent prices stand now at $69.
- ▶ As released yesterday by Eurostat, December headline inflation rose to 1.3% in the euro area (1.0% in November). Nevertheless, inflation excluding energy and unprocessed food remained unchanged at 1.4%.
